CARRIED

New Business

Sue and Thomas attended the Strategic Plan Focus Group meetings last week and an overview of each meeting was discussed with the Arts and Culture Advisory Committee.

- Sectors including Trails, Economic Development, Arts and Culture and Cultural Awards all agreed that having a vibrant downtown required the support of each other to finding a macro approach to attaining this in Cambridge.
- The Strategic Plan Committee had unofficially committed to combining the advisory committees more often, to approximately twice a year.
- A prominent discussion topic in these focus groups was: “How can the advisory committee contribute and what can the City do to support the advisory committee to foster a community with heart taking into account our core values”?

Items discussed were:

- Increased feeling of belonging
- Inclusion/welcoming
- Community Well-Being Survey
- Event planning brings vibrancy and artisans to the downtown core areas ie. Winter Illumination, Galt Loves even during the Covid-19 pandemic.
- If each group could focus on 1 or 2 key initiatives, it would be more effective to bringing international and local artisans together and make it easier for Council to support.
- Ideas included placing a piece of commissioned art in the parks and/or streets once a year to get more people into these areas – bench, murals, a signature piece that will help the public to identify us.
- Identify other arts groups to be included such as theatre, dance, etc.
- Propose an actual budget to Council and get approval for the funding for a Cambridge wide initiative project that will include Galt, Hespeler and Preston cores.
- Gather examples of projects/programs that have been successful in Cambridge or other municipalities and replicate it in the core areas.
- Obtain a contact person from the City or other external group that can facilitate this initiative and communicate these ideas via transportation/school infrastructures.
- Make Arts and Culture Advisory Committee (ACAC) more visible to artist groups and to offer our expertise to decide where funds should be allocated.
- Public and Separate School Boards can contribute by having an annual Art project to be displayed in a public space – boosting positive moral for the students.

- Some discussion took place on the Land acknowledgment wording that the committee may be using going forward in the meetings.

Council Updates

None

City Updates

- City Hall remains with minimal staff onsite. Majority of staff are working from home.
- No facility rentals until September 1.
- Idea Exchange – watch the website for events.
- Arts Guild – No Art Attic for 2021 but will be planning one for 2022. A viewing of an Art Attic video will be presented at the next meeting.
- Cookies and Kids program will continue in 2021.

- Brian will be visiting Antarctica to shoot icebergs in December 2021.
- School of Architecture project “Unwritten Stories” – about diversity and inclusivity will be online at the School Gallery.
- Quilting and 3D Clay printing projects happening at the Waterloo School of Architecture.
- Outdoor event space to become available in July and August that will accommodate up to 100 people in Hespeler and Galt for community groups to utilize.

- The Centre for the Arts had a photo gallery of “Winter City” photographs sent in by the public on display until the end of March.
- The Old Post Office projection – will be receiving a grant to create 2 new shows that will be available for viewing in 2021.
- The Grand River International Film Festival (GRIFF) will run virtually in May featuring 12 films in which people can purchase tickets and view within 48 hours – Neighborhood Magazine will have a list of the films.
- Cambridge Community Players – see their You Tube channel and website for updates.
- ArtsBuildOntario.ca website - have resources about creative spaces, setting up business/management skills to develop creative spaces.
- Cambridge Poppy Project - this is a community art project of Remembrance that will be created using hand-knit and crocheted poppies. The project aims to collect 10,000 poppies to recognize and honor our area veterans and military personnel.
